

Interparliamentary Committee Meeting

Better Law Making from a digital perspective

Brussels, 27 October 2020, 13.45 – 15.45

13.45            Welcome words
Adrián Vázquez Lázara
Chair of the Committee on Legal Affairs, European Parliament

13.50            Introduction to the topic
Mr Hrvoje Grubisic
European Commission
DG Justice and Consumers - Unit A1- Civil justice policy
Secretary of the European Judicial Network in Civil and Commercial Matters

Feasibility and necessity of a possible EU digital platform collecting data on existing EU national laws on the topic

14.00            Digital-Ready Legislation: the Danish experience
Danish MP

Digital-ready legislation must create the basis for a more up-to-date, cohesive public administration providing the most value to citizens and businesses and contributing to a more user-friendly, easily accessible and transparent public sector. In short, digital-ready legislation is about ensuring that the legislation conforms to the digital society that Europe has become. In January 2018, the Danish parliament (Folketinget) adopted an agreement on digital-ready legislation, which will ensure a simpler, clearer legal framework, which is easy to understand and translate into secure and user-friendly digital solutions.

14.10            Debate

14.25            Digitalized services to citizens and enterprises: the Estonian experience
Estonian MP

Estonia sets a good example concerning digitalization of the public sector. The public administration and the government work mostly paperless with citizens, firms and enterprises enjoying a vast offer of administrative procedures online and where a high standard of data protection is ensured.

14.35            Debate

14.50 Digital tools in the service of law-making: The French experience
French MP

Digital legislative tools were used by the French legislator within the framework of the Law for a Digital Republic adopted in 2016 (Loi pour une République numérique), where the civil society was invited to contribute to the drafting of the law via a dedicated digital platform put in place by the government. The drafting process of this law provides a good example of such digital tools enabling civil society participation.

15.00 Debate

15.15 National experiences with remote legislating process in the COVID-19 pandemic
Prof. Dr. Sabine Kuhlmann
Vice Chair of the National Regulatory Control Council (Nationaler Normenkontrollrat – NKR)
Holder of the Hedda Andersson Chair at Lund University, Sweden
Vice President for Western Europe of the International Institute of Administrative Sciences
Fellow of the National Academy of Public Administration, USA
Universität Potsdam
Wirtschafts- und Sozialwissenschaftliche Fakultät

The COVID-19 pandemic has brought forward the need to accelerate the digital transition at EU and at national levels.

There is a number of activities which can be undertaken remotely or through digital means and recent experience has highlighted that in certain circumstances this can result in equal, if not increased, productivity and efficiency: what lessons can already be learned from the pandemic?
